FORMULA 1 HISTORY

Knowledge Base Starter Pack
Seasons 2021–2025

Prepared for: F1 History AI Chatbot

A structured, searchable reference for championship facts, season summaries, key storylines, and common question-answer patterns.

Important: this is a starter knowledge document, not a complete official results database. Use the chatbot's Jolpica-F1/API data for exact race-by-race results and verify detailed classifications against official FIA/F1 records.

How the chatbot should use this document

Use this PDF as background knowledge for natural-language questions about the 2021–2025 seasons. Extract facts from the relevant season section and answer directly. For exact race winners, qualifying results, fastest laps, full standings, or detailed points calculations, check structured race data rather than guessing.

Answering rules

• Identify the season first; do not mix statistics from different years.
• Distinguish the Drivers' Championship from the Constructors' Championship.
• If a user asks for a finishing position (for example, "who finished second?"), return the driver at that exact position, not the champion by default.
• If the document does not contain the requested fact, say so and use the live/structured data source or ask a clarifying question.
• Mention the season and relevant team with the answer. Points can include half-points, as in 2021.

Champions at a glance

Season	Drivers' Champion	Points	Wins	Constructors' Champion	Races
2021	Max Verstappen (Red Bull)	395.5	10	Mercedes	22
2022	Max Verstappen (Red Bull)	454	15	Red Bull	22
2023	Max Verstappen (Red Bull)	575	19	Red Bull	22
2024	Max Verstappen (Red Bull)	437	9	McLaren	24
2025	Lando Norris (McLaren)	423	7	McLaren	24

Across these five seasons, Verstappen won four consecutive Drivers' titles from 2021 through 2024. McLaren won the Constructors' Championship in 2024 and 2025. In 2025, Lando Norris became Drivers' Champion, narrowly ahead of Verstappen.

2021 Season Guide

A title fight decided at the final race

Drivers' Champion: Max Verstappen (Red Bull) — 395.5 points, 10 wins.
Constructors' Champion: Mercedes — 613.5 points.
Drivers' runner-up: Lewis Hamilton finished second in the Drivers' Championship with 387.5 points.

Season overview

The 2021 season featured a close, intense championship battle between Max Verstappen and Lewis Hamilton. Verstappen secured his first Drivers' Championship at the Abu Dhabi Grand Prix, the final round. Mercedes won the Constructors' Championship, showing that the drivers' and teams' titles can go to different teams.

Quick facts

• Season length: 22 Grands Prix.
• Drivers' champion: Max Verstappen; runner-up: Lewis Hamilton.
• Constructors' champion: Mercedes.
• The title was decided at the final round in Abu Dhabi.
• The 2021 points total includes half-points in the final season total; use 395.5 for Verstappen and 387.5 for Hamilton.

2022 Season Guide

Red Bull takes control under new regulations

Drivers' Champion: Max Verstappen (Red Bull) — 454 points, 15 wins.
Constructors' Champion: Red Bull — 759 points.
Drivers' runner-up: Charles Leclerc finished second in the Drivers' Championship with 308 points.

Season overview

Formula 1 introduced a major technical-regulation change in 2022, including ground-effect aerodynamic cars intended to improve close racing. Ferrari began strongly, but Red Bull and Verstappen became dominant as the season progressed. Verstappen won a then-record 15 races in a season and Red Bull secured both championships.

Quick facts

• Season length: 22 Grands Prix.
• Drivers' champion: Max Verstappen; runner-up: Charles Leclerc.
• Constructors' champion: Red Bull.
• Ferrari's early challenge faded as Red Bull delivered stronger results over the season.
• The Japanese Grand Prix was the event at which Verstappen clinched the title.

2023 Season Guide

A record-setting Verstappen and Red Bull season

Drivers' Champion: Max Verstappen (Red Bull) — 575 points, 19 wins.
Constructors' Champion: Red Bull — 860 points.
Drivers' runner-up: Sergio Pérez finished second in the Drivers' Championship with 285 points.

Season overview

Red Bull dominated the 2023 season. Verstappen won 19 of the 22 Grands Prix and accumulated 575 points, one of the most dominant campaigns in the sport's history. Red Bull won 21 of the 22 races and secured the Constructors' Championship. Pérez's second place gave Red Bull a one-two finish in the Drivers' standings.

Quick facts

• Season length: 22 Grands Prix.
• Drivers' champion: Max Verstappen; runner-up: Sergio Pérez.
• Constructors' champion: Red Bull.
• Verstappen scored 575 points and won 19 races.
• Sergio Pérez scored 285 points and finished second in the Drivers' Championship.
• Red Bull won 21 of the 22 Grands Prix.

2024 Season Guide

Verstappen wins the drivers' title; McLaren wins the teams' title

Drivers' Champion: Max Verstappen (Red Bull) — 437 points, 9 wins.
Constructors' Champion: McLaren — 666 points.
Drivers' runner-up: Lando Norris finished second in the Drivers' Championship with 374 points.

Season overview

The 2024 season was more competitive than 2023. Verstappen built an early lead and secured his fourth consecutive Drivers' Championship, while McLaren's strong results from Lando Norris and Oscar Piastri helped the team win its first Constructors' title since 1998. Ferrari also mounted a strong challenge in the Constructors' standings.

Quick facts

• Season length: 24 Grands Prix.
• Drivers' champion: Max Verstappen; runner-up: Lando Norris.
• Constructors' champion: McLaren.
• Verstappen clinched the Drivers' title at the Las Vegas Grand Prix.
• McLaren finished ahead of Ferrari and Red Bull in the Constructors' Championship.
• Charles Leclerc won the Monaco Grand Prix.

2025 Season Guide

Limitations and source notes

This is a curated educational summary written for a chatbot prototype. It is not an official FIA or Formula 1 publication, and it does not contain every race classification, qualifying result, pit stop, fastest lap, penalty, or complete driver/team standings. Championship facts were cross-checked against public historical season summaries and official F1/FIA material where available. For production use, prefer official Formula 1/FIA records and structured historical data such as the Jolpica-F1 API.
